

The Federal Communications Commission

Dear The Federal Communications Commission,

My children use the Tracfone wireless phone service for safety, security and convenience. It is not a regular use phone for mindless conversations. I don't want them to lose these benefits because the government and big businesses need to "rebalance" the Universal Service Fund. These are the users that the fund was supposed to help, not to penalize for having emergency service.

I do not want to pay more for my telephone service! I urge you to reject a flat fee proposal that would change how contributions are made to the Universal Service Fund. Under the flat fee proposal you are considering, people who make few long distance calls would pay the same as people or businesses that make many calls. In other words, low-volume and primarily residential customers would bear the same universal service fund burden as a high-volume residential or business customers. This is unfair!

I urge you to reject the proposal to move the USF collection system to a flat-fee.

Keep the USF Fair!

Sincerely,

James Kopec
